DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 50-86, drawn to an extracorporeal system for reducing the amount of a targeted immune system inhibitor in whole blood, classified in class 422, subclass 73.
- II. Claim 87, drawn to a method for stimulating an immune response in a mammal, classified in class 435, subclass 2.

A.

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product, such as a therapeutic use other than stimulating an immune response in a mammal, or as part of a diagnostic assay.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group (II and III), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

B.

Furthermore, if Applicant elects group I, Applicant must make a species election as described below.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species (means for providing a binding partner) of the claimed invention: 1) a mixing chamber (claims 75-79 and 82); or 2) an absorbent matrix (claims 50-74, 81 and 83-86).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 80 is generic (with respect to this particular group of species.)

C.

Moreover, if Applicant elects groups I above and one of the species above, Applicant must further make a species election as described below.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species (binding partner) of the claimed invention: 1) soluble receptors for tumor necrosis factor α and β , 2) interleukin-1 receptor antagonist, 3) soluble receptors for interferon- γ , 4) soluble receptors for interleukin-1, 5) soluble receptors for interleukin-6 (see the members of the Markush group as claimed in claims 50, 75 and 80), 6) antibody or fragment of an antibody (see claims 62-68), and 7) synthetic peptide (see claims 69-74.)

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Response to Arguments

In response to Applicants assertion that there is a close relationship between the subject matter of the three sets of claims and thus there would no serious burden on the Examiner to examine all the claims, Examiner asserts that the inventions and species as described above each require a separate search and consideration and thus would be a serious burden on the Examiner.

Conclusion

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
